Open your heart and home to a child in need.

Children in Need

On any given day, hundreds of children are waiting for a “forever family.” Children are available for adoption for a variety of reasons; many have suffered from abuse and/or neglect. No matter their age or their background, they all deserve a loving and safe environment. While The Villages works to enable children to live safely with a member of their biological family, it is not always possible. When this situation occurs, The Villages strives to place children in adoptive homes after being legally freed to do so by the courts.

Loving People Represent Hope

When you consider opening your heart and your home as an adoptive parent, you present hope, love, guidance and support to a child who so desperately needs — and deserves it.

Loving people from all walks of life and vocations can become adoptive parents. You must be at least 21 years old and must meet all applicable state and/or federal requirements, including providing positive references, passing criminal history and child sex abuse registry checks, and passing a physical exam. Adoption is ideal for adults who enjoy children and want to provide hope for a brighter future.
